From Washington.

The Electoral Count.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Mr. Bicknell will make another effort this week to bring the House to the consideration of the joint rule for the counting of the electoral vote. If the Republicans resist action upon it, as before, many of the Democrats are in favor of sitting it out and making it a question of physical endurance. They believe that it is a matter of sufficient importance to resort to that parliamentary device. If the Democrats attend in their full strength they would have a quorum of their own, and could pass the rule. But there would not seem to be any use of entering upon the fight unless they have a quorum of Democrats present.

The inter-state commerce bill and the apportionment bill are both regarded as of prime importance by the friends of these measures respectively, and they may be antagonized against the joint rule if the fight upon the latter is carried to a great length.

THE TENNESSEE SENATORSHIP.

A number of Republicans here have telegraphed to Nashville urging the members of the Legislature to vote for Governor Hawkins for Senator. It is believed here that he can be elected by the Republicans, and that in view of the great importance of having a Republican Senator from that state for six years, the party in the state can well afford to go without a Governor of their own for two years. There is some expectation that this view of the case may be accepted, and a trial of Hawkins's strength will be made early next week.

THE TEHUANTEPEC CANAL.

The action of the full committee of the inter-oceanic canals, in ordering the subcommittee to strike out the subsidy in the report on the Eads' ship railway scheme, is considered as settling the fate of the Tehuantepec route, as Mr. Eads cannot do anything without government aid. The fight is now between the Nicaraguan and Panama routes. The committee will report favorably on the former route, and perhaps will throw no obstacles in the way of the Panama scheme.

JUDGE SWAYNE'S RETIREMENT.

It is understood that Associate Justice Swayne has prepared his resignation, and will tender it to the President during the coming week. It is expected that either Attorney General Devens or Stanley Matthews will be appointed to the vacancy. Both names are being considered in this connection, but as the President often remarks that he reserves to himself the right to change his mind as often as he chooses, up to the time the appointment is made, there is no telling who will get it.

The post office appropriation bill is the next one to be taken up in the House. When it was reported, last week, and ordered to be re-committed, it was not quite complete, as some items were yet to be added. Mr. Blackburn, who has charge of the bill, expects to dispose of it during the week.

THE EADS SHIP CANAL.

The House Committee Refuses Government Support.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 22.—The House committee on interoceanic canal, at a full meeting today, referred back to the subcommittee the bill and a report favoring the incorporation of Eads' ship canal across the isthmus, with instructions to strike out that portion providing for the indorsement of its stock to the amount of $50,000,000 by the government.

FIRE IN NEW YORK.

The Metropolitan Hotel Damaged to the Extent of $75,000.

NEW YORK, Jan. 23d—The dining-room of the Metropolitan Hotel was burned this morning. None of the guests were hurt, although there was considerable excitement. No other part of the hotel was injured. Loss, $50,000. Two firemen were slightly injured.

Among the other things destroyed were nine large mirrors valued at $10,000, and six chandeliers valued at $12,000. The galleries of Niblo's Garden Theatre were damaged. The total loss will reach about $75,000.

THE ERA OF COMBINATIONS.

The New Compact Between the Sound Steamboat Companies and Eastern Railroads.

The report that a definite understanding had been arrived at between the New York and New Haven Railroad Company and the several steamboat companies engaged in the Sound and Eastern trade, and that freight and passenger rates will be advanced fifty per cent., was in part substantiated today by inquiry among the officers of the several lines. At the meeting of the representatives of the steamboat and railroad interests, held last Thursday in Boston, the situation was reviewed and a preliminary compact fixing a uniform passenger and freight rate was drawn up, and will undoubtedly be ratified. The full details of the compromise between the rival lines, however, have not been made public, and will not be before the latter part of next week. Colonel Borden, one of the agents of the Old Colony Steamboat Company in this city, in commenting on the proposed combination, said: "There is no doubt that some kind of an understanding between the steamboat and railway companies relative to freight and passengers will be highly beneficial to all concerned, and the sooner the trouble is settled the better it will be for all concerned. Heretofore the different companies have been working on their own hook and without concerted action, and the natural result has been a rivalry for business which has ended in a cutting of rates which has been bad for the interests of all concerned. When rates are once down it is hard to get them up, and this can only be accomplished by an equitable understanding between all the companies. This now seems to be in a fair way of being brought about."

"Will the compact seriously affect shippers?" was asked.

"No," he replied. "At none of the meetings has there been a suggestion of rates that would be onerous. The rates will simply be advanced moderately to enable the companies to work at a profit. The fifty per cent. spoken of on freight and passengers is what may be called moderate rates and there will be few complaints."

The steamboat companies interested in the compact are as follows: Fall River, Stonington, Norwich and the Metropolitan freight line to Boston. The railroads which have been their principal competitors in through freights and passengers are the New York and New Haven, the New York and New England, the Stonington, the Boston and Providence and the Hartford and Springfield roads. These lines for three years past have carried through freights and passengers at rates that were unprofitable, depending for any losses on their local business. According to the new arrangements, there will be an advance in freights to Boston, making it $3 per ton instead of $2, and a uniform passenger rate to the same point of $8 after March 1 and $4 after June 1.—[Graphic, 22d inst.

THE FLORIDA CONTESTED ELECTION CASE.

Bisbee Seated as Representative from the Second District.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—When the House met at 12 today more than a quorum was present. The journal of the night session was not ready, so a recess of half an hour was taken. After the recess the journal was read, when Mr. Keifer called up the Bisbee-Hull Florida election case. His demand for the previous question was seconded. Chairman Springer of the committee of elections tried to explain the action of the Democrats yesterday, participated in by himself and the other Democrats of the elections committee, with the exception of Emery Speer of Georgia, in opposing consideration of the resolution, unanimously reported by the elections committee, declaring Bisbee entitled to a seat. He made poor work of it, but it was gathered from what he said that the Democrats wanted to consider the Bisbee-Hull contest in connection with the Yeates-Martin contest from North Carolina, which will be considered next week. In the former the Republican contestant, in the latter the Democratic contestant, is declared entitled to contest. He thought that the Democrats feared that the Republicans, having seated Bisbee, would refuse to seat Yeates. He added that, having assurances from Mr. Keifer that he would not oppose consideration of the Yeates-Martin contest, he would withdraw opposition to the Bisbee-Hull case. The explanation was singularly native. Perhaps he was sleepy. Mr. Keifer said that, while he could not speak for his side, he would not personally oppose the consideration of the Yeates-Martin case when it comes up next week. Thereupon he demanded the vote. The Republicans voted solidly in favor of the two resolutions declaring Noble A. Hull not entitled and Horatio Bisbee, Jr., entitled to the seat as representative from the 2d district of Florida. The Democrats did not vote at all. Then Mr. Keifer brought Mr. Bisbee, who served in the Forty-fifth Congress, down to the bar, and Speaker Randall administered to him the iron clad oath. Then he was subjected to 10 minutes' handshaking by the Republicans. After the election case had been disposed of, Mr. Reagan tried to get up his interstate commerce bill, but the House was weary and nervous and unfit to work, and, after allowing Mr. Lowe to explain that he had said nothing and intended nothing contemptuous toward the House, in his remarks to the deputy sergeant-at-arms, adjourned.

IRELAND.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—It is said that the bill for the protection of persons and property in Ireland will much resemble the Westmeath act of 1871. It will empower the Viceroy, with the advice of the Irish Privy Council, to enforce, and a subsequent clause will suspend the habeas corpus by empowering the Viceroy, upon reasonable suspicion, to arrest any person deemed an offender within the terms of the act. It will also provide that the persons so arrested cannot be released, tried or bailed without an order of the Privy Council or Viceroy. Another clause will, in certain cases, substitute a trial before two judges for trial by a jury. It is possible the suspension of the habeas corpus will continue until the first of August.

THE INDIANS.

Outrages by Victorio's Band.

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—J. M. Robinson reports that Victorio's Indians attacked a mining camp near Block Range, New Mexico, on the 18th inst., killing two miners and probably five. Several more were wounded. The miners were reinforced and expected to hold the Indians in check until the troops reach them. Lieut. Gilfoyle, with Co. D of the Ninth Cavalry, has gone to the assistance of the miners.

"I don't mind dying," gasped old Mrs. Brown, "but I should like to know how I took that cold."—[Boston Transcript.

AN EXPRESS TRAIN THROWN FROM THE TRACK.

Five Persons Burned to Death.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Jan. 23.—The Atlantic express train, No. 12, east-bound, on the New York, Lake Erie and Western Railroad, was thrown from the track at 12.45 o'clock this morning, just west of Tioga station, on the Susquehanna division, 241 miles from New York, by the breaking of a driving axle on the engine. The tender of the engine, postal car and two baggage cars were burned with their contents, excepting a portion of the baggage, which was saved. Postal clerks Joseph Redinger, Seybolt, Ingram and Fox, and Messenger Brever, of the United States Express Company, were burned in these cars, and their remains are nearly unrecognizable.

Two day coaches also left the track and were destroyed by fire, but as they had not upset, the passengers were all enabled to escape uninjured with the exception of some receiving slight scratches. No injury happened to the other day coaches or the sleeping coaches or their occupants. After several hours delay a new train was made up and will arrive in New York this evening. The bodies of the unfortunate victims will be sent to New York and delivered to their friends. Baggage master Peter Perry, escaped from his car with his left arm dislocated.

MAIL ROBBERY.

Mysterious Disappearance of $150,000 in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—A heavy mail robbery came to light here tonight, which the post-office officials and the government special agents have been engaged upon since Thursday, but without result, so far as known.

It appears that the Michigan Southern train, with a mail car attached, due here at 7.40 o'clock, on Wednesday evening, did not arrive until 10.05 o'clock, and in consequence there were no mail wagons at the depot to receive and transfer the mail to the post-office. The agent in charge of the car locked it, went to the post office, delivered his official papers, and securing wagons, returned for the mail.

One of the first pouches unloaded to the wagon was the special one containing registered letters and other registered valuables, the aggregate contents said to be worth $100,000 to $150,000. The messenger declares that it was intact and all right when loaded upon the wagon, and when delivered to the postoffice here, between 12 and 1 o'clock that night, it was thrown into a large safe and lay under lock and key until Thursday morning.

When taken out, a large slit was found in the pouch, and a great portion of its contents had been abstracted. The messenger, the driver of the mail wagon, one of the railroad men, and others who had handled the pouch, were placed under arrest, but the greatest secrecy was maintained, and nothing leaked out about the robbery until today.

FOREIGN.

The Greek Question.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—A dispatch from Athens says the Powers have informed Greece that they are negotiating in regard to the Porte's circular proposing a conference at Constantinople. The Greek Cabinet are decidedly averse to the project, and indeed, regard it as less acceptable than arbitration.

A Constantinople despatch states that the Porte is ready to concede in Thessaly more than was awarded Greece at the Berlin conference, provided that in Epirus the line proposed by the Porte's October circular is accepted. In the meantime, in consequence of the warlike attitude of Greece, the Porte continues to prepare for war.

CHINA AND RUSSIA.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 22.—The main outlines of the arrangement between Russia and China are that Russia shall restore all of Kuldja, reserving a small territory in Ili. China will pay a substantial amount over and above five million roubles stipulated by the treaty of Livadia for the military expenses of Russia.

GAMBETTA AND THE PRESS.

PARIS, Jan. 22.—In the Deputies, Thursday, Gambetta, in thanking the members for his re-election as president of that body, said the Chamber would not separate before emancipating the press from the present restrictions, nor without sanctioning the right of public meetings.

ENGLAND'S VIEW OF THE FUNDING BILL.

LONDON, Jan. 22.—The Economist commenting on the refunding question, says the times are rather less favorable than they were for the issue of stock, having so low a rate of interest as 3 per cent.

MR. GLADSTONE'S HEALTH.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—Mr Gladstone's friends and his physician are urging upon him the desirability of rest, and the avoidance of attending at the House of Commons late at night. After passing the coercion and Irish land bills, Mr. Gladstone will probably accept a peerage, with the title of Lord Liverpool.

MOVING AGAINST MONOPOLY.

CHICAGO, Illinois, Jan. 22, 1881.—A number of Chicago capitalists, numbering among them N. K. Fairbanks, George I. Dunlap, George C. Walker, Perry H. Smith, John B. Lyon, S. A. Kent, H. W. King and Samuel Johnson, have formed an association to construct a four-wire telegraph line from Chicago to New York. Wirt Dexter has been engaged to present the claim of the association for a charter.

POSTER ADVERTISING.

It is estimated that during the theatrical year, over half a million dollars is expended by traveling combinations in pictorial printing, lithographs and work of a similar character, as a means, of course, of advertising. Some of the attractions are necessarily better provided with paper than others, and it is a common thing to see the bills of a dramatic star completely overshadowed by those of some variety company. In such cases the money which the former has expended in illuminated printing is practically thrown away—in hail weather, indeed, it is actually thrown into the gutter. It may well be doubted, however, whether under the most favorable circumstances, it pays any first-class attraction to invest money in this sort of advertising. If any one will take the trouble to notice the kind of people who stop to read the gorgeous bills with which the dead walls and fences of the city are adorned, he will discover that they are chiefly the street gamins, who, if they do patronize the theatre at all, generally select the cheapest variety show, and that not one out of a hundred well-dressed and respectable appearing persons pays the slightest attention to the display. Money spent in newspaper advertisements, on the other hand, is bound to come back; for the reason that the public cannot, if they would, escape seeing the announcements; that the weather makes no difference in the value of the advertisement, and, finally, that a newspaper can be carried about and taken home, while a ten foot poster is the most immovable of fixtures. Some theatrical managers have been shrewd enough to take advantage of this fact, and instead of wasting their money on lurid posting, have invested in the advertising columns of newspapers, and invariably for their pecuniary profit.—[Baltimore American.

PERSONALS.

.....Gen. Hancock has been elected President of the National Rifle Association.

.....Josephine Iturbide, daughter of the former Mexican Emperor, is to receive from the present Republican Government a pension of $10,000 a year.

.....Church debt raiser Kimball has visited one hundred and sixty churches and raised directly and indirectly some $11,000,000 from church members.

.....It is said that Mr. Vanderbilt has issued an order forbidding the sale of flash publications on the railroads and at the stations under his control.

.....The Colby University Seniors voted to invite the Rev. Mark Trafton, D. D., of Boston, to be their poet at commencement, and he has accepted the invitation.

.....Mr. Lawrence Barrett will leave in June for London, accompanied by his wife, and they will be joined by their children, who are being educated in Germany.

.....All the United States Senators in Washington have united in presenting to Senator McDonald of Indiana, as a wedding gift, a big punchbowl of solid silver lined with gold. The bowl with ladle and case cost $700.

.....The rumor that Colonel Robert G. Ingersoll had purchased the mansion and grounds occupied by the Americus Club at Greenwich, Conn., during Tweed's time, for the alleged purpose of turning the property into a private country seat, turns out upon investigation to be incorrect.

.....The treasurer of the fund for purchasing a portrait of Mrs. Hayes says the work is going on most satisfactorily. The picture is to be placed at the side of the President's picture in the White House. With the frame it will cost about $3000. The frame is to be of oak, 10 feet high and 5 feet wide. The base of the pilasters is to be carved with laurels, the emblem of victory; the top of oak, the emblem of power; the sides with lilies, as the emblem of purity; and the bottom with English hawthorn and water lilies, emblematic of beauty.

IMPURE WATER IN BOSTON.

The Boston Transcript discusses the water question with reference to the peculiar flavors which the liquid at present affords. It says: The water in the pipes and water works of this city is unpleasant enough to the taste; it is not necessary to make it a worry to the mind. The throat diseases and fevers prevalent, but not extraordinarily so, are properly referable to the season and more especially to the thawing of the unusual quantities of snow that have fallen. It will not mend matters with the water supply to spread vague alarms through the community. Obscure as the subject is there are some points that have been tolerably well established by the scientific investigations and practical tests set on foot by the State Board of Health. Among these established points are that a water supply is not so easily polluted by sewage or manufacturing refuse as would be supposed, and that any such pollution quickly works itself out. The last report of the Board of Health, Lunacy and Charity, shows that chemical analysis was unable to prove pollution of the Merrimac river at Lowell, even by the filth of a city of fifty thousand inhabitants. In June, 1879, a fire in a chemical manufactory was the occasion of about fifty tons of oil of vitriol, with salt cake and other chemicals, being emptied into a feeder of Mystic pond, a brook three feet wide. Five days later only a slight trace of the acid was found by chemical tests in the brook at the place of the impregnation, and a fortnight after the fire none at all, while the acid never reached the pond, seven to eight miles below the works. This may be taken as decisive as to self-purification of streams.

The growth of microscopic water plants or algæ in our water basins has been studied carefully by competent scientific men for several years. A great many facts have been observed and recorded, among them the fact that the vegetable growths have been developed even in water that has been filtered by means too expensive to be applied to the water supply of the city. As vegetable growths, therefore, must be accepted as inevitable and ineradicable, it is gratifying to be assured by the researches of Professor W. G. Farlow, M. D., of Harvard University, published in this same report, that the anxiety with regard to danger to health from these plants is needless. Dr. Farlow emphatically states that though science does know that certain algæ produce a bad taste in water, science also proves that they do not cause the specific diseases whose origin is considered to be explained by the germ-theory. The germs of these diseases are distinct from those of the algæ and much smaller.

But the "cucumber taste" (cucumber-like to many but fish-like to others) in Boston water, in not due, so far as is known, to the growth or decay of any species of plant. In the autumn of 1875, when it was last previously noticed, the water was examined by Professor W. R. Nichols, Mr. Edward Burgess, and Dr. Farlow and no cause, chemical, zoölogical or botanical, could be assigned for its taste. On the contrary, both chemical and microscopic examination showed that the water was unusually pure. The same thing is true today. No vegetable growth is deposited on the screens either at Chestnut Hill Reservoir or in the storage lakes; but, unlike the conditions of the previous visitation, there is no taste in the water in either of the basins or in the Dorchester supply at the present time. The search for the origin of the admixture is therefore narrowing down to the main between the Chestnut Hill basin and the city proper. Meanwhile it is safe to assume that there is nothing positively deleterious in this "unpleasantness," for neither microscopic nor chemical analysis reveals any known injurious element. Further tests and researches are going on.

Secretary of the Navy Goff while a prisoner in Libby prison was put into close confinement as a hostage for a Major Armsay, of the Confederate army, who had been taken inside the Union lines and sentenced to be shot as a spy. Upon the execution of Armsey Goff was to be instantly shot. His sufferings were extreme, and he was compelled to live on rats skinned and cooked by the negroes and smuggled to him. He not only bore this for eighty-seven days, but wrote a letter, now on file in the War Department, in which he said that his life ought not to stand in the way in determining Armsey's fate. "The life of a single soldier," he wrote, "ought not to stand in the way of adherence to a great principle." General Goff was finally exchanged, after a transfer to the Penitentiary at Salisbury, N. C., in August, 1864.

A FEW WORDS TO YOUNG LADIES.

Never permit your collars, cuffs or handkerchiefs to look dingy, as it is a sure sign of untidiness in other directions. Every young lady should practice the art of doing up these things neatly. To be careless in these small matters takes the charm from the prettiest face. To see the neck encircled with a dingy ruche, which appears to have seen long service, or a rumpled collar which has its first freshness marred, entirely spoils the richest toilet. It is a great source of pleasure to a young girl to have her box or little collar drawer well stocked with these daintly trifles which draw a decided line between the refined and neat and those with opposite traits. Do not buy cheap ruffles, they will not wash. Add a few more cents and purchase a yard of pretty lace, and plait it in the neck of your dress; or a linen collar, which always gives a ladylike air to the simplest dress.

PESTS OF THE WHITE HOUSE.

If any one thinks the President of the United States has an easy life, let him take an hour's sitting in the ante room of the second floor of the White House, or, what is better, in the President's room, where the movements of His Excellency can be better observed. Mr. Hayes settles down to business at 10 o'clock each morning, and from then until noon he is open to calls from Senators and Representatives, Cabinet Ministers and foreign representatives. He has no opportunity to go through his mail in the morning, that duty being intrusted to a confidential clerk in the office of Private Secretary Rogers, who opens the letters, notes the contents and assorts them.

A Senator calls and requests the President to appoint a certain man as Collector of Port, and then goes on to give his reasons. The President smiles and promises to give the subject his earnest attention; is glad the Senator called, and the latter departs satisfied that his "influence" has been felt. Scarcely has he left when in walks a member of the opposing faction, who asks for the place for his friend. Then there are more smiles and promises of consideration, and the Representative also struts out feeling that he has gained a victory. Next morning both men read in the papers that some one else—probably a man they never heard of—has carried off the prize. This is what has soured the politicians on Mr. Hayes, and is what Andy Johnson would have termed "my policy." A silent spectator, studying the visitors, recently counted five Southern Democratic Representatives to every one Republican who called on the President.

While all this has been going on inside, the ante room has been filling rapidly with people who have no "influence"—notably young married couples who are on their wedding tours—all waiting for a chance to pay their respects to the President. Word is sent inside. His Excellency takes a position in the centre of the room, and the crowd surges in and shakes hands with the Chief Magistrate. It is the plain pump-handle ceremony, with smiling variations. Then the folks pass out to go to their homes, and tell how they shook hands and spoke to a real live President. These little daily receptions are events in the lives of thousands. Mr. Hayes takes great pleasure in them, and gives each person such a cordial grasp of the hand that you feel as if he had known you personally for some years.

The President is overrun with visitors. Some come to borrow money and others look to him for aid in the procuring of pensions for them. Not a few call and request him to give them positions in the Treasury Department or some other berth they have singled out. And the amusing part is that many of these people think the President has nothing to do but to say "yes" and their salaries will begin at that moment.

One of the most curious visitors is an old woman who comes to Washington once a year regularly from Maine. She has the idea in her head that she owns the whole United States. The deluded creature brings an armful of papers, old deeds, and takes her place in the waiting room. Here she goes over the documents and prepares them so the President can sign them. She declares that she has been cheated out of her rights, and that as soon as his Excellency places his signature and seal on the papers she will recover all that has been stolen from her. This is carried on for about a week, when the attaches learn that her funds have run low. Then they hand her over to the district authorities, who kindly send her back to her home. For twelve or fifteen years this woman has made these singular pilgrimages, and all who know her treat her with consideration.

Then there are two men who call two or three times a year. They generally labor under the hallucination that they are the President of the United States. They come separately, walk in and examine the house, quiz the attaches to know whether they are taking good care of the place, and ask how the machine is running, sit around awhile and finally move off. They always leave word that they will be back soon to take possession, and for the present occupant to hurry up and vacate.

The word "auto," written on the edge of a postal card, has a terrible meaning, and is the latest popular craze. The President is deluged with letters from all over the country requesting that he will send his autograph. "Do you write your signature yourself?" he was asked. "Certainly," replied the President. There are at present four hundred letters upon his table from persons who make this modest request, and the President is so conscientious about it that he will not allow a clerk to write the name for him. He laughingly remarked that one day a week would have to be set apart as "autograph day" if the deluge did not end. And all the counties have not been heard from either.—[Washington Letter.

A Modern Miracle.

THE MOST MARVELOUS EXPERIENCE OF ONE OF BOSTON'S LEADING CITIZENS.

How it Occurred.—His Description of the Circumstances, and the Overwhelming Testimony of Prominent Witnesses.

[Boston Globe, Dec. 6th.]

The readers of this paper were more or less amazed at a most remarkable statement from one of our leading citizens which appeared in yesterday's issue. So unusual were the circumstances connected with it, and so much comment did it occasion on the street and in social circles, that a representative of this paper was commissioned to investigate its details and verify its facts. The article referred to was a statement made by Mr. B. F. Larrabee, of the New York and Boston Dispatch Express Company, that after having lain at the point of death for more than three weeks, given up by both physicians and friends, he had completely and wonderfully regained his usual health. Mr. Larrabee was found in his private office on Arch street, and upon being questioned said:

"Well, sir, logically, I have been dead, but really, I am as you see me. A little over a year ago, I was taken sick, but I allowed the illness to run along until on the 28th day of October, 1879, I fell prostrate while walking along Tremont street. I was carried home and did not go out of the house until the middle of December. I then went down town and attempted to attend to my business until the 13th of last January, when I was taken with a very severe relapse. My symptoms were terrible. I was fearfully bloated; I suffered severe pains in all parts of the body and it was almost impossible to get my breath. For six days I never laid down and never slept. I was constantly attended by my regular physician, Doctor Johnson, and Doctor Bowditch also came to see me nearly every day. There was no doubt that I was suffering from Bright's disease of the kidneys in its worst form and last stages, accompanied by other troubles in my liver and heart. In spite, however, of the skill of the physicians, I kept growing worse and finally they tapped my side in the vicinity of the heart, taking away forty-six ounces of water. This relieved me for the time, but I soon became as bad as before. Then the doctors gave me up entirely, declared I could not live more than twenty-four hours and my daughter, who was residing in Paris, was telegraphed for. Still I lingered along for several weeks, far more dead than alive, but never giving up hope. One night—it was on the 20th of April, I very well remember—my attendant, who was reading the paper to me, began an article which described my disease and sufferings exactly. It told how some severe cases of Bright's disease had been cured, and so clearly and sensibly did it state the case that I determined to try the means of cure which it described. So I sent my man to the drug store, procured a bottle of the medicine, unknown to my physicians and friends, and took the first dose at 11 o'clock. At that time I was suffering intensely. I could not sleep; I had the short breaths and could scarcely get any air into my lungs. I was terribly bloated from head to foot, and the motion of my heart was irregular and painful. The next morning I was able to breathe freely; the pain began to leave me and the bloating decreased. I continued to take the medicine, and today, sir, I am as well as I ever was in my life, and wholly owing to the wonderful, almost miraculous power of Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure. I do not know what this medicine is made of, or anything else about it, but I know it saved my life when I was given up by the doctors and had really been dead for weeks; that it has kept me in perfect health ever since and has cured many of my friends to whom I have recommended it. There are a number of very remarkable cases in Lynn and Salem, as well as in this city, that it has cured. My recovery is so remarkable that it has excited much attention, and physicians as well as others have investigated it thoroughly. I am glad they have, for I feel that the result of such a wonderful cure should be known to the thousands in all parts of the land who are suffering from troubles of the kidneys, liver, or heart in some of their many dangerous forms."

The representative of the press thanked Mr. Larrabee for his very frank and clear statement, and was about to leave the office when a gentleman stepped up to him and inquired if he was seeking information about Mr. Larrabee's sickness and recovery. The scribe replied that he was, whereupon the gentleman said:

"Sand to me I, and I have come all the way from Chicago for that very purpose. Kidney troubles seem to be alarmingly increasing all over the country, and I have a very near relative who is afflicted much as Mr. Larrabee was. I have been to see the physicians of whom Mr. Larrabee speaks, and I tell you, sir, it is simply wonderful."

"What did they say?" asked the man of news.

"Why I why, sir, they fully confirm everything Mr. Larrabee has stated. I went to see Dr. D. A. Johnson, at 20 Worcester street. He was absent when I called and so I stepped into the Commonwealth Hotel where Mr. Larrabee was living at the time of his sickness. Messrs. Brigh & Carter are the proprietors, and I asked them about Mr. Larrabee's case. Mr. Brigh pointed to me the electric annunciator and said why for weeks and weeks every time that bell rang I said: That means the death of Mr. Larrabee. No one around the hotel ever dreamed that he would recover and when the doctors would come down from his room they would shake their heads and say there was no hope. The arrangements for the funeral were all made and his recovery was simply a miracle."

I then called on Dr. Johnson who said that Mr. Larrabee's case was a very remarkable one. He was his family physician and expected his death every hour for a number of weeks and never called to see him during that time, but he was prepared for it. The doctor said the recovery was due to Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure, and if he had friends, male or female, troubled with a burning or any kidney troubles he should certainly advise them to use this remedy. Dr. Johnson said kidney difficulties are more common than most people think and that many symptoms when are supposed to be other diseases arise from the kidneys. He said that ladies after gestation are specially subject to albuminous troubles which require prompt attention.

Well, I then came down and called on Dr. H. Ingersoll Bowditch on Boylston street. The old doctor was inclined to be reticent but fairly consented all I had previously learned. He had attended Mr. Larrabee, had at one time given him to be beyond all hope, and was quite rewarded yesterday, as he said, by Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure.

I next went to see Dr. Melvide E. Webb, at the Hotel Comfort, for you see I was determined to be thorough in the matter. I found Dr. Webb a most clear-headed and well-informed gentleman, and he said:

"I know of Mr. Larrabee's case from having thoroughly investigated it as medical director of a Life Insurance company, and it is one of the most remarkable cases I have ever met. Mr. Larrabee had all the manifestations of a complication of diseases, and in their worst forms. He had albumen and casts in the urine, and a terribly diseased liver and spleen. Indeed, he was so bad that he threw himself upon the floor, and with his head upon a hair-sack, struggled for breath. It was on the night that he was so bad and when all his medical advisers had long given him up that he began using Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure. The next morning at 10 o'clock he was able to breathe freely, and has been ever since. I subjected him to the most thorough examination possible, after his recovery, and I can't find out about him. His kidneys, liver, lungs and heart are perfectly well and sound. I can only add that, from what I have seen, I should unhesitatingly recommend this remedy."

The conclusion from the statement above made, which come to the newspaper man as well as to the general public, must be two fold. First, that a modern miracle of healing has been performed in our midst, and that, too, by the simplest means and one which is within the reach of every one; and secondly, that testimonials of such high character and so outspoken in their conclusively prove the value of the remedy and its superior nature to the proprietary articles with which the public have been flooded. "Time greater includes the less," and the remedy which has been proven so valuable and has saved a life after it was brought down to death's door, must unquestionably be certain in all minor troubles which are so disastrous unless taken in time.

Newport Daily News, and the Newport Journal.

The Newport Journal is published at the same office every Saturday morning and contains a selection of the best matter in the Daily, including editorial discussions of the topics of the week, literary miscellanies and at least one good story, the latest markets and a complete and comprehensive summary of the news,—local and general. The Journal is a large 32 column paper and contains a large amount of reading matter that is valuable to readers in town or country who desire a good Newport paper, but who do not take a daily from this city.

Complaints regarding the irregular or improper delivery of either paper should be sent to the office at once.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES.

The Daily News, $6 per annum, or 12 cents a week, payable to carrier.

It is said that the wording of the new Chinese treaty is often so ambiguous as to leave it uncertain just what interpretation to put upon it. For this reason there has been some talk of rejecting the document, at least until it can be put in better shape. If this be true it will again be urged that "the scholar in politics" is not a success.

Massachusetts and Rhode Island certainly "loom" up among the states in the census reports. Nearly one-half of the cotton manufacture of the United States is concentrated in them. Of the 230,223 looms found by the census enumerators 94,788 are in the former and 30,274 in the latter state. Of the 1,586,481 bales of cotton used in the country 740,284 were used in the mills of these two states, and of the 181 623 persons employed in this manufacture 62,794 are in Massachusetts and 22,228 in Rhode Island.

The national House of Representatives went into session as usual on Friday evening last, and sat until six o'clock Saturday morning in a vain attempt to obtain a quorum. A sufficient number of members could not be brought together, however, and those present finally adjourned and went home in disgust. It would seem as though some members of Congress were not aware that they are paid for certain services which they are supposed to render the country and their several constituencies, or at least that they are not disposed to recognize the fact. They draw their pay regularly and attend to their duties when it is convenient to do so. Meanwhile important business of a public and and private nature is calling for attention, but cannot be reached because of the indifference and negligence of the public servants. Alas! Alas!!

George Alfred Townsend says two-thirds of Congress now favor buying the telegraphs up under the rights reserved in chartering them. He adds: "It may be that Congressmen have been bitten in the recent pooling, or the telegraph companies may be at the back of the scheme; but it would not cost the Government over $100,000,000 to take every telegraph line that exists, and with the water out it would only cost about $40,000,000 and give the people and press reliable, regular, reasonable telegraphic rates."

Mr. Bisbee has at last been declared entitled to the seat in Congress from the second Florida district to which he was elected two years ago. His term of office will expire on the fourth of March next, giving him less than two months of service in a position to which he was chosen for two years. Meanwhile the Democrats have profited by the vote of his competitor, whom they illegally seated, for nearly the entire Congressional term, and only give Mr. Bisbee his rights when that term is about to expire. Such is political justice, as illustrated by a Democratic Congress.

CHURCH RE-OPENING.

The Thames street Methodist Episcopal Church, which has been closed for several weeks, was yesterday formally re-opened by appropriate religious services. The church edifice has been greatly improved in its appearance, has been supplied with a new organ and made in every way attractive. We have already given a description of the work as it was in progress, and need not repeat what has been said.

The Thames street church was organized twenty five years ago as a mission in connection with the First church, with which it remained for some time connected. It was established to meet the wants of that part of the city which was then in a very great degree destitute of religious services. For a number of years the society thus organized received help from the conference and was on the list of domestic missions. It was also generously aided in its peculiar work by other churches of all denominations, and has ever had the hearty sympathy of the entire Christian community. It has steadily increased in numbers and financial ability, and the wisdom of its establishment has been fully demonstrated.

For a time the society worshipped in a building on one of the wharves where it gathered quite a congregation. Then it purchased an old dwelling house on the corner of Thames and Brewer streets which was refitted for its use. This was finally moved off and the present neat and commodious church edifice built in its place. As now improved, with its convenient chapel in the rear it is a very desirable church property and fully adequate to the wants of the congregation.

The congregation yesterday was very large, every nook and corner of the building being crowded with those desiring to hear Prof. Townsend, who had been selected as the preacher. Nor were they disappointed. Dr. Townsend gave one of his masterly discourses to which no report, less than the publication of the whole, can do justice. The harmony of evangelical Christianity with the latest teachings of science was clearly shown in several particulars where there has been dispute. The Professor quoted the remarks of many of the ablest scientists and showed the conclusions to be in harmony with the doctrine of Christian theism and divine revelation. He insisted upon the marked peculiarities of evangelical religion as able to withstand the assaults of hostile criticism and modern interpretation. He is evidently one of those who propose to stand in the old paths and maintain the ancient landmarks. The sermon was listened to with great interest throughout and produced a profound impression.

In the evening the congregation was equally large with that of the afternoon. The Rev. Mr. Carroll presided and took charge of the services. Brief addresses were delivered by Rev. E. S. Stanley of Providence, Mr. L. D. Davis, Rev. A. Cauoll, Rev. Dr. Randolph of the Central Baptist Church and Rev. Dr. Townsend. Many were present from other churches and all seemed to enter into the spirit of the occasion. It was a great day for the Thames street Church and one which its friends will long remember with pleasure.

The choir for the afternoon consisted of Mrs. S. J. Carroll, Mrs. A. C. Titus, Mrs. C. P. Frank, Miss Sue Littlefield, Miss Lizzie R. Dyer, Miss Ella V. Gilman, sopranos; Miss Ida M. Smith, Miss Fanny W. Carry, Miss Mary Lewis, Master Harry Martland, altos; Capt. Thomas S. Nason, Mr. Benjamin Easton, Jr., Mr. George A. Pritchard, Mr. Samuel Gladding, tenors; Mr. Henry Smith, Mr. Theodore Dawley, Mr. Philip Frank, basses; Mr. Gardner of Providence, organist of the church, presided at the organ and Mr. Philip Frank was the conductor. The choir for the evening was composed of the same sopranos as sang in the afternoon and the same altos with the substitution of Miss Lizzie Burdick for Miss Smith. The tenors were Capt. Nason, Mr. Gladding and Mr. William H. Arnold, and the basses were Mr. Abram Tilley, Prof. Frank, and Mr. Philip Frank, with Mr. J. W. Andrews at the organ.

A woman's advice is generally worth having; so, if you are in any trouble, tell your mother, or your wife, or sister all about it. Be assured that light will flash upon your darkness. Women are too commonly adjudged verdant in all but purely womanish affairs. No philosophical students of the sex thus judge them. Their intuitions, or insights, are the most subtle, and if they cannot see a cat in the meal, there is no cat there. A man, therefore, should keep none of his affairs a secret from his wife. Many a home has been happily saved, and many a fortune retrieved, by a man's full confidence in his wife. Woman is far more a seer and a prophet than man, if she be given a fair chance. As a general rule, the wives confide the minutest of their plans and thoughts to their husbands. Why not reciprocate, if but for the pleasure of meeting confidence with confidence? The men who succeed best in life are those who make confidantes of their wives.

—Capt. Horlor, brother-in-law of Mr. F. G. Harris, has arrived at New York in his vessel. During the passage he fell from the upper bridge to the deck breaking two ribs and dislocating his shoulder.

—At the land league meeting at St. Mary's hall last evening, addresses were made by Capt. Edward Matthews, who presided in the absence of the president, Mr. Butler, the latter being confined to his house by illness, and by Mr. Cornelius Twomey.

—Mrs. Mallalieu, residing on the Point, fell down stairs at the residence of Mr. John Alderson on Thames street Saturday evening and broke her wrist in two places. Dr. Butler was summoned and the patient was taken to her residence.

—Mr. Joseph W. Greene, of Bristol, R. I., who has been in Manitou, Colorado, for some time past, has been appointed mail agent between La Junta, Colorado, and Santa Fé, New Mexico, and assumed his duties Jan. 17th. He is a brother of Mr. J. I. Greene of this city.

—It is proposed to have a land league meeting at the Opera House early in February. Addresses will be delivered by the Rev. George W. Pepper and others. It is expected that Mrs. Parnell, mother of the well known member of Parliament, will also be present and address the meeting.

—There is probably no street in the city where the abuttors pay so little attention to the ordinance regarding the cleaning of ice and snow from the sidewalks, as John street. During the past week several ladies have fallen and are now confined to their homes on account of the horrible condition of the sidewalks on that street.

—A very pleasant entertainment took place last evening in the parlors of the Perry House. A goodly number of young people, together with some older ones, participated. Miss Westcott, a niece of the proprietor, read "The Curfew shall not ring tonight" with striking effect, evincing a remarkable degree of natural ability for one so young. Miss Swasey and Miss Lawton favored the company with some choice selections on the piano.

—At the meeting of the New York Gun club at Bergen Point, New Jersey, Saturday, Mr. Fred P. Sands, of this city, won two second prizes. Mr. Sands and Mr. F. Arnold killed 90 straight birds in the second match but in shooting off the tie the last named carried off the first prize. In the first match Mr. Sands killed 21 out of 25 birds, one less than the winner, Mr. W. M. Edmunds. Mr. Sands had better luck in the sweepstake match in which he killed 8 out of 9 birds.

—Deputy Sheriff Lake sold by public auction at the State House, this morning, at sheriff's sale on execution, Albert Hammet against Wm. P. Slocum of Portsmouth, all the right, title and interest which the said Wm. P. Slocum had on the 27th day of April, A. D. 1880, at 15 minutes past three o'clock P. M. in and to an estate in Portsmouth on the Glen Road, near the East main road, to Albert Hammett for one hundred and fifteen dollars. The amount of the execution and costs under which the sale was made was $341.71—the purchase money being less than enough to pay one half that amount.

—A meeting of the executive committee of the Aquidneck Agricultural Society was held at the State House on Saturday. The object of the meeting was to appoint committees to revise the premium lists of the various classes of exhibits, with a view to ascertaining whether it would be advisable to recommend an increase or decrease in any or all of them, and also to report as to whether two or three prizes should be offered. A committee was appointed to inquire into the advisability of having a poultry show in connection with the fair. This committee is expected to report in one week. The committee on the revision of the prize lists was given a month in which to make its report.

Is it best, asks a Boston mother, in a letter to the Detroit Free Press, to move the things out of reach when we tell the little ones they must not touch them, or compel to let them alone while within reach? The latter seems the only way to me to teach obedience. I have seen parents tell their little ones, while at the table, that they must not touch such a thing, and then move the article out of their reach; then the little things would reach and pull the table cover until they got hold of the desired article, and when taken away from them would scream, and the mother would have to take the child away from the table. How much better, it seems to me, would it have been to let the article remain within reach; then, if the child touches it after being told it must not, tingle the fingers with a little switch. This you will not have to do but a few times; a child will not put its fingers in the fire when he finds it burns. Widowed when my little boy was only one and a half years old, I felt that a double responsibility rested upon me in raising him for usefulness and to meet all the temptations of this life. Several times have I had to punish him (hard), for he was a stubborn child and wanted to have his own way, and after I had brought him to submit to my will I have gone away and wept by myself. And today, as I look upon my noble boy, now nineteen years old, without a single bad habit and with a strong love for mother and home, I am thankful that I had strength to do my duty.

The snow fall in the Pemigewasset valley, New Hampshire, has been the heaviest known for years, and as the snow has not melted a particle for over sixty days it is now three to four feet deep on a level in the woods. Lumbermen in many places have been obliged to suspend operations almost entirely.

Several capitalists connected with mining and engineering at Montreal are organizing a company to tunnel under the falls of Niagara. The connection between Canada and the United States will be made partly by tunnel and partly by tube. Certain railways are forming a combination for Western traffic, and this project is a part of the scheme.

One of Mr. T. B. Aldrich's best romances, "The Stillwater Tragedy," published last year, pictured the rolling up of the quiet life of a village denominated "Stillwater," by the murder of a rich old miser by a young workman, who escaped capture. The author probably never intended to prophesy when he constructed that plot, and will be as greatly astonished as any one to learn that the events described have actually come true in a little village of Saratoga county, bearing the very name Stillwater, with many of the minor circumstances reproduced.

THE PERIODICALS.

The February ATLANTIC opens with two chapters of Miss Phelps's admirable serial story Friends: A Duet, which will make her admirers more numerous and enthusiastic. William M. Rossetti, in his second paper on Wives of the Poets, tells briefly the story of the wives of La Fontaine, Moliere, Racine, Lessing, Bürger, Goethe, Schiller and Heine. Richard T. Ely has an interesting account of the German coöperative Credit Unions. John Fiske asks Who are the Aryans? and then answers it in a way to secure the hearty thanks of those who have puzzled themselves over the query. Major Ben. Perley Poore continues his authentic and entertaining Reminiscences of Washington with a capital paper on the Taylor Administration. Richard Grant White returns to his English tour with an article entitled In London Again. These essays are admirably written, and are both entertaining and full of acute observation. Other essays, poems, stories, reviews of new books, a well filled Contributors' Club, and a running account of the books of the month, conclude an excellent number of this sterling magazine. $4 00 a year. Houghton, Mifflin & Co., Boston.

BLACKWOOD'S MAGAZINE for January, republished by the Leonard Scott Publishing Co., 41 Barclay street, New York, commences the year well. We notice among the article: Autobiographies.—No. 1. Benvenuto Cellini. A spirited sketch of this gifted and excitable Florentine, whose interest in his beautiful work did not prevent him from constantly mixing in fights, or quarreling with his employers; Before and after the Ballot, a description of the former manner of conducting elections in England contrasted with that of today; The Bishop Astray; On some of Shakespeare's Female Characters—1 Ophelia; The Seer, a Tale; by Rudolph Lindau; The Land of Gilead; The Ministry of Misery. An account of Mr. Gladstone's cabinet and policy. The periodica's reprinted by the Leonard Scott Publishing Company (41 Barclay street, New York) are as follows: The London Quarterly, Edinburgh, Westminster, and British Quarterly Reviews and Blackwood's Magazine. Price, $4 a year for any one, or only $15 for all, and the postage is prepaid by the publishers.

"CONSTABLE HOOK."—The story of the play "Folk Lore, or Constable Hook," to be given here on Wednesday evening, takes the auditor back nearly a hundred years, to that remarkable era of Witchcraft, which caused in portions of England a reign of terror, and placed upon her history the familiar tales of widespread superstition, warping the judgment of clergy and courts, a period fruitful of dramatic incidents and legendary lore. About this time "Moll Pitcher," the witch of Lynn, became celebrated, not only in America but throughout the world for her skill as a fortune teller. There was no port on either continent where floated the flag of an American ship that had not heard her name. To her came the rich and the poor, the wise and the ignorant, the accomplished and the vulgar, the timid and the brave, the ignorant sailor, who believed in the omens and dreams of superstition, and the intelligent merchant whose ships were freighted for distant lands, alike sought her dwelling and many a vessel was deserted by her crew and waited idly at the wharves in consequence of her unlucky predictions. Many persons came from places far remote to consult her on the affairs of love, or loss of property, or to obtain her surmises respecting the vicissitudes of their further fortune. On this theme and other traditions has been constructed a play of intense human interest, peopled with the quaint old characters of the time, foremost of whom stands the "Constable," a firm believer in the witch's power. This character, expressly written for Mr. Murray, in his hands is said to have become irresistibly droll, his quiet old-fashioned sayings convulsing the audience with laughter at every point, while "Blanche Redmond" the heroine, impersonated by Miss Cartland, is a well rounded and finished performance, beautifully drawn and tenderly rendered, winning the full sympathy of the audience from first to last, while the "Witch," Le Clare, William and Allerton are all personages of importance. In short the play is one of many characters, well drawn and strong, made to do duty and speak for themselves.

A COMPARATIVE CENSUS STATEMENT

In connection with the census of this year, the following statistics for 1790 (the first census) may prove interesting. In the first column will be found the figures of 1790 of the sixteen states, and also of the twenty principal cities. In the second column are the returns from the last census for the same places:

| | 1790. | 1880. |
|---|---|---|
| Virginia | 747,610 | 1,512,203 |
| Pennsylvania | 434,373 | 4,282,783 |

THE TOUROS OF NEWPORT.

The memory of the Touros is kept green in Newport, the name having long been identified with the place. Isaac Touro came here about 1760, was ordained priest of the congregation of Yeshaut Israel, and conducted the services in the synagogue till the people were scattered by the war, when he went to Jamaica, and died at Kingston December 8, 1783, aged forty-six years. He was a man of learning, and it is said that through him the Rev. Dr. Stiles acquired his knowledge of Hebrew. His wife was the sister of Moses Michael Hays, and by her he had three children, Abraham and Judah and a daughter Rachel, who became the wife of Joseph Lopez, and of whose death I have made mention. Mr. Hays removed to Boston, and took the young Touros with him. Both Abraham and Judah Touro engaged in business in that city. Abraham met with a violent death. While viewing a military parade in Boston his horse took fright at the firing and became unmanageable. Mr. Touro jumped from the chaise, and in so doing broke his leg; mortification followed, and he died Oct. 18, 1822, at the age of forty-eight years. He had always taken an interest in Newport, and particularly in the synagogue in which his father had so often officiated. In 1820, while on a visit to Newport, he caused a substantial brick wall to be erected around the cemetery, and at his death bequeathed the sum of ten thousand dollars, as a fund to support the synagogue and cemetery, and a fund of five thousand dollars to keep the street leading to them in order; which street now bears the family name. The fund so created was impaired a few years ago by a faithless trustee, who abstracted the sum of $4,629 63, and left in its place his own worthless note. At the present time the fund amounts to $23,802 73. His other public bequests were $10,000 to the Massachusetts General Hospital, $5,000 to the Boston Female Asylum, $5,000 to the Asylum of Indigent Boys, $5,000 to the Humane Society, and $10,000 to the synagogue at New York. At his own request his body was brought to Newport and laid in the cemetery.

Judah Touro removed to New Orleans about 1803, and passed the remainder of his days there, actively engaged in business and philanthropic work. He amassed a great fortune, which he spent liberally, and his praise was on the lips of all who knew him. In the war of 1812 he met with great losses, but mindful of the interests of the country, he neglected the counting room, entered the ranks as a soldier and volunteered his services to carry shot and shell to one of the batteries. While so employed he was struck on the thigh by a twelve-pound shot which carried away a large mass of flesh. There seemed no hope of saving his life, but he was borne from the plain of Chalmette by kind and gentle hands, and after a long confinement was in a measure restored. He died January 18, 1854, and on the 6th of the following June his body was buried in the Jewish cemetery in Newport. The ceremony was witnessed by many hundred persons, both citizens and strangers, who wished to pay this mark of respect to the memory of one who had been so widely known. Before the funeral the delegates of Jews from New York, New Haven, Buffalo, Hartford, Boston, Philadelphia and New Orleans, called upon the Mayor of the city headed by the Rev. Dr. Raphall, who spoke in their behalf, and who said in the course of his remarks:

"We bear it in grateful memory that even in this great Republic, the glorious home of freedom, Rhode Island was the first state that proclaimed religious equality, and that gave the fullest recognition to the rights of conscience and opinion in every man. During more than a century and a quarter Jews resided in this city. The connection between them and your fathers was one of peace and good will. They ranked as citizens, as merchants, as members of society among your foremost men; and when the vicissitudes and changes attendant on the war of independence induced them to move from here, they left behind them a reputation for integrity and benevolence that they have recorded in the history of your city; while on their part they expressed their high opinion of your integrity and liberality by intrusting to your care the consecrated building in which they worshipped God, and the hallowed spot where rest the ashes of those who were nearest and dearest to them."

While the procession moved from the synagogue to the cemetery the bells of all the churches tolled, and places of business generally were closed. At the grave there was an address by the Rev. Mr. Leeser, and then the body was deposited in earth that had been brought from Jerusalem by the Rev. Mr. Isaacs.

Mr. Touro was the last of the family. During his lifetime he expended liberal sums in Newport. In 1842 he removed the brick fence around the cemetery, placed there by his brother, and put up the present beautiful fence of granite and iron at a cost of $12,000, and at the same time he erected a new monument to the memory of his father and mother. In 1844 he gave $2,000 to repair the portico of the Redwood Library and to lay a walk from the library to the Jewish Cemetery, and at his death he bequeathed $3,000 to the library as a fund for the purchase of books.

Mr. Touro was a bachelor. Whether he had ever been crossed in love I cannot say; he certainly avoided the society of ladies, and was never willing to exchange a word with them. Major MacRea, U. S. A., while stationed at New Orleans, occupied one of his houses, which was out of repair. Mrs. MacRea wrote him repeatedly asking him to put the house in better order; to all of which he turned a deaf ear. At last, knowing his weak point, she sent him word that if her wishes were not attended to forthwith she would call and see him. The next morning there was a din in front of the house, where carpenters, painters, masons, plasterers, tinsmiths—men of almost every trade—had assembled, each with an order from Mr. Touro to make such repairs as Mrs. MacRea required. I had this anecdote from Mrs. MacRea.

The following anecdote I give as an illustration of his benevolence and his unwillingness to let his left hand know what his right hand was doing. A poor woman with a large family of children, left penniless by the death of her husband, had struggled long with adverse fortune, and was fast sinking under the effort to sustain her little ones. Begging her bread from door to door in the streets of New Orleans she was referred to Mr. Touro, by a merchant who was almost his equal in wealth, as a charitable person. With trembling she knocked at the door and succeeded in finding her way into Mr. Touro's presence. There she told her tale of suffering and woe. The benevolent man walked to his desk, drew a check, and as he handed it to her cautioned her to tell no one, but to go to the bank and get the money. When she reached the bank she was surprised and distressed to learn from the clerk that it was for fifteen hundred dollars. Hurrying back with the check she forced her way to Mr. Touro's room, who, divining the object of her second visit, upraided her in so loud a voice that she could not be heard, and ended in ordering his servant to take her from the room. After his death she told the story—told how with the aid thus provided her she provided for her family, and after that she was able to battle with the world.—[Champlin, N. Y. Post.

SUPREME COURT.

PROVIDENCE, Jan. 22.

Nancy Hazard vs. Probate Court of Newport. This is a petition for a writ of mandamus to compel the Court of Probate of Newport to immediately render its decision upon the relator's petition for letters of administration upon the estate of her son, Nicholas Easton Hazard, deceased, which petition that Court continues without rendering a decision. The respondent answers that the continuances are necessary, owing to pending litigation over the will of the father of Nicholas and the uncertainty how it will terminate, because the court is at present unable to determine who is beneficially interested in the estate, and therefore to whom administration should be granted. Held for advisement. Hazard Stevens for relator; Darius Baker, contra.

PAWTUCKET PROBLEM.

Pawtucket, R. I., is exercised over the subject of morality in public schools, and thinks it should form a part of the course of instruction. Then it fears there is a lion in the way in the form of religion, and it cudgels its brains—not the lion's—to ascertain some method wherein there will be no mixing of morality with religion. Pawtucket had better return to its former quietude. The thing cannot be done so long as church spires point upward and preachers play at long taw with selections from the Old Testament. Children are apt to carry to school the family belief, and if improvement is to be made in the direction sought, it will have to commence in the family circle, where the child, soul and all, is more thought of than anywhere else by parents who ever think at all.—[N. Y. Com. Advertiser.

THE CHRISTMAS CARD COMPETITION.

On the 14th of next February, the designs of competitors for the Prang Christmas card prizes must be delivered at the American Art Gallery in this city. So successful was the first competition that it received the flattery of imitation in England; so handsome are the prizes—one thousand dollars, five hundred dollars, three hundred dollars and two hundred dollars, respectively—that most artist cannot fail to be allured by them, although of course, these gentlemen or gentlewomen need not be accused of possessing an inordinate desire for the acquisition of wealth. To many studios a check for one thousand dollars would come as acceptably as to other private retreats, while the appearance even of two hundred dollars would not be greeted with contumely. The committee of judges (Messrs. John Lafarge, Louis C. Tiffany and Samuel Coleman) is constituted to appeal to any painter's love of competent fairness in such matters, and to suit the fancies of artists of every school—old and new, intense and torpid, advanced and retregrade. Probably no more generally satisfactory committee could have been elected, and as its task is to be so arduous, its reward, it is to be hoped, will be something or other as suitable at least as a good conscience and as profitable as could reasonably have been expected. The subjects for the designs must be first of all original, because other subjects can be obtained without the trouble and expense of a competition; and next they must be appropriate to the Christmas season, by which it is understood that the Messrs. Prang mean that the competitors are at liberty to follow their own notions of propriety. Are the artists, as a rule, cognizant of the fact? Judging from the display made by them last year, one would say that the conventional idea of the Christmas season was paramount in their minds, and that, therefore, as many of them did not really feel such a conception as, say, Fra Angelico used to feel it, they were burdened instead of warmed by it, they groped and stumbled rather than stepped straight out and confidently. To look upon the Christmas season as the season of kind wishes, words and fellowship, would be not less acceptable to the proprietors of this prize competion than to view it as Fra Angelico would have done, and if any American artist in the nineteenth century has more sympathy with such an underunderstanding of the import of the festive anniversary than with any special traditional understanding of it, his contribution may reflect his convictions without detriment to his prospects. Nay, it should and must so reflect them, if it is to be wrought worthily, or in any worthy sense successfully. This breadth of scope on the part of the projectors of the enterprise deserves to be proclaimed in the studios.

Of course, the designs must be pictorially conceived. However appropriate to the Christmas season the subjects of the competing artists may be, these subjects must be conceived in a pictorial as distinct from a literary fashion. Of course, also, the conceptions must be elaborated and graced in an atmosphere of good technique. They must be painted—in the professional sense of the term; the designers must know how to handle a brush. There is no reason why this Christmas card competition should not engage and stimulate the activities of the first artists in the land; there are several reasons—which have just been mentioned—why it should. The Messrs. Prang profess to be able to carry still further their already excellent reproductions of artistic designs, and it is certain that the pictures which win the prizes will be honorably and handsomely treated, and that the names of men or women who create them will become household words in thousands of homes.—[Evening Post.

Valuable Estate for Sale.

THE PROPERTY situated on the corner of Broadway and Equality Park, belonging to the estate of the late I. C. Lake. The property consists of about 10,392 feet of land, good dwelling house and corner store. One of the best business stands on the street. Apply to EDWARD A. CROCKER, Agent, Bellevue avenue, Newport, R. I. jc9

FOR SALE—Two houses corner of Thames and Holland streets. The lot has a frontage on Thames street of about 50 feet and of 55 feet on Holland street. The corner house has a store and is a good stand for business. This property will be sold at a bargain (for about what the land is worth) to a prompt purchaser. Apply to DANIEL WATSON. jy8

The Ocean and the Beach.

THE LOT OF LAND, comprising three lots of the Gibbs plat, located on the corner of Bath road and Channing avenue, is offered for sale at a reasonable price. It overlooks the Ocean and the Beach, and the water view can never be built out. As land thus situated is becoming very scarce, there is here a splendid opportunity for investment. If desired the lots will be sold separately. Inquire of L. D. DAVIS, Daily News office. aug16

FOR SALE—The valuable estate on Bellevue avenue belonging to Mr. William Sisson, consisting of large building with store, also bake shop and stable in rear, and 11,600 feet of land, together with good will of ice cream, cake and confectionery business, established over 20 years; and the present owner having made enough to retire, now offers the place entire (soda fountains, fixtures and everything required to carry on the business) excepting horse & furniture. The ice cream saloon is the largest in the city and is now doing a thriving business.

WHITTIER'S FIRST POEM.

We have before us in Mr. Whittier's handwriting the first poem of his that was ever published. In 1826, when he was in his nineteenth year, he left it under the door of the office of the Free Press, a weekly paper then published by William Lloyd Garrison in Newburyport. Garrison had just attained his majority and this paper was his first venture in journalism. It may interest young writers for the press of the present day to hear the story of his first literary effort of a poet now crowned with years and with honors. It was many weeks after young Whittier left his manuscript to its fate before he heard from it. He was then working upon his father's rocky farm in Haverhill, and his father was a patron of the Free Press. Week by week the paper arrived, and the heart of the young poet sank within him as he looked in vain for his verses. One day he was at work with his uncle Moses repairing the stone fence by the highway, he going along on the outside replacing the stones knocked from the way by sheep that had scrambled over it. While so engaged the postman came along on horseback, and, to save going to the house with the paper, he tossed it to young Whittier. It was opened with trembling fingers. Many a writer knows the exact sensation of hope without expectation so often experienced in regard to the firstlings of the brain. The surprise of finding his poem at the "head of the corner" was so bewildering that he was dazed by it, and he says he stood looking at it a long time, and is sure he did not read a word. At length his uncle called him back to his senses by bidding him keep at work. No success in future years has ever stirred such a tumult of emotion, as may well be believed. Garrison was so impressed with his new contributor's work that he sought him out, coming up to Haverhill on horseback to interview him. When Garrison called young Whittier was at work in the field. He was told a gentleman was at the house inquiring for him. Nobody had ever inquired for him before, and he felt like running away. But he got into the house by the back door, "slicked up," and soon stood in the presence of the young editor, who encouraged him to make good use of the talent he had displayed. Whittier's father came in during the interview, and begged Garrison not to put such notions into the head of his son. But it was too late; the damage was done! This was the first meeting of the two men, afterward so intimately associated in anti-slavery work.—[Portland Transcript.

A prominent lawyer in Saratoga Springs, having grown impatient awaiting a decision on some important suits, one of which was argued as a test case, wrote as follows last week to the Justice of the Supreme Court before whom the case was heard: "My dear sir: I argued a cause before you in April 1879. I wish you would decide it in my favor. If you will not do that, I wish you would decide it against me; and if you cannot do that, please refer the case to some other Judge who will dispose of the matter."

Highest Medals. Indorsed and Prescribed by Medical Men of all Schools.
Professor Duncan Campbell, M.D., LL.D., President Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons, etc., etc., says: "It has more than realized my expectations."
Professor J. M. Carnochan, M.D., Professor of Surgery New York Medical College, says: "My patients derive marked and decided benefit from it."
Professor H. Goullon, M.D., Physician to the Grand Duke of Saxony; Knight of the Holy Cross, etc., says: "It gives more tone than anything I have ever prescribed."
Sir Robert Christison, M.D., LL.D., F.R.S., Physician to her Majesty the Queen; President Royal British Association, etc., etc., says: "The properties of the Coca are the most remarkable of any known to the medical world. From repeated personal trials I am convinced that its use is highly beneficial and tonic."
Valuable in malaria; ague; malarial debility; dumb ague; low fever; marasmus; paralytic; spinal and nervous affections; female weaknesses; bilious and liver affections; weak throats; palpitation and other affections of the heart; epilepsy or falling sickness; weakness of the voice of actors, singers, public speakers and clergymen; colic; flatulency; seasickness; falling out of the hair; asthma; shortness of breath; wasting diseases; etc., etc. It is gratefully refreshing and restorative after prolonged mental and physical strain. It is pleasant and agreeable, and is readily retained by the most delicate stomach. Dr. McBean (British Medical Journal) found it of great service in consumption. Baron von Humboldt says he has never known a case of consumption or asthma among those accustomed to its use, and that they live to a great age, retaining their mental and physical faculties to the last (Cosmos).

IMPORTANT
Consumers of Coal!
We offer to our customers and to consumers of coal generally,
BREED'S CHEMICAL COMPOUND
to be used with Anthracite Coal. This preparation combines with the gas thrown off from Anthracite Coal, causing it to burn with a bright, yellow flame, thus burning all the gas usually wasted in the chimney or thrown into the room to poison the air.
It is claimed by the manufacturer that coal prepared with this chemical will last one third longer than used in the usual way.

THE GREAT
KIDNEY REGULATOR
AND DIURETIC.
Kidnegen is highly recommended and unsurpassed for Weak or Foul Kidneys, Dropsy, Bright's Disease, Loss of Energy, Nervous Debility, or any obstructions arising from Kidney or Bladder Diseases. Also for Yellow Fever, Blood and Kidney Poisoning, in infected malarious sections.
By the distillation of a Forest Leaf with Juniper Berries and Barley Malt we have discovered Kidnegen, which acts specifically on the Kidneys and Urinary Organs, removing deposits in the Bladder and straining, smarting, heat or irritation in the water passages, giving them strength, vigor and causing a healthy color and easy flow of urine. It can be taken at all times, in all climates without injury to the system. Unlike any other preparation for Kidney difficulties it has a very pleasant and agreeable taste and flavor. It contains positive diuretic properties and will not nauseate. Ladies especially will like it, and gentlemen will find Kidnegen the best Kidney Tonic ever used!
Notice.—Each bottle bears the signature of Lawrence & Martin, also a proprietary government stamp, which permits Kidnegen to be sold (without license) by Druggists, Grocers and other persons everywhere. Put up in quart size bottles for general and family use. If not found at your druggists or grocers, we will send a bottle prepaid to the nearest express office to you.

SURE CURE
Put up in Quart-Size Bottles for Family Use.
Scientifically prepared of Balsam Tolu, Crystallized Rock Candy, Old Rye, and other tonics. The formula is known to our best physicians, is highly commended by them, and the analysis of our most prominent chemist, Prof. G. A. MARINER, in Chicago, is on the label of every bottle. It is well known to the medical profession that TOLU ROCK and RYE will afford the greatest relief for Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Bronchitis, Sore Throat, Weak Lungs, also Consumption, in the incipient and advanced stages.
Used as a BEVERAGE and APPETIZER, it makes a delightful tonic for family use. Is pleasant to take; if weak or debilitated it gives tone, activity and strength to the whole human frame.
CAUTION. DON'T BE DECEIVED by unprincipled dealers who try to palm off upon you Rock and Rye in place of our TOLU ROCK AND RYE, which is the only medicated article made, THE genuine having a GOVERNMENT STAMP on each bottle.
